

Amazing Me!

Personal, social and emotional development

We shall be building relationships with others and forming friendships. Demonstrating friendly behaviour and initiating conversation in order to form good relationships with both children and adults.

We shall be looking at different expressions. Making happy and sad faces.

We shall be focusing on understanding and following rules.

Communication and language

Our books will be Kipper's Birthday, Little Red Riding Hood, Meg and Mog, Hedgehog, Brown bear and Tickle tickle and Autumn non-fiction books.

We shall be focussing on listening and attention and identifying ourselves. During group time the children will show evidence of listening and joining in with new songs and rhymes.

Literacy

The children will be participating in self-portraits and distinguishing between the marks they make.

Mathematics

We shall be singing number rhymes; 5 Little Ducks, 5 Little Speckled Frogs. We shall be encouraging the children to recite some numbers names and recognise numerals 1-5.

Physical development

We shall be enhancing the manipulative area with tweezers and small objects allowing the children to develop fine motor control using their thumb and fingers. This will then lead onto early drawing and writing using a tripod grip to hold writing tools.

Expressive Arts and Design

We shall be allowing the children to explore and experiment with different resources.

We shall be making faces using a variety of resources, for example, string, feathers, and shaving foam.

Towards Autumn we shall be making collages we collect from the outdoors.

Understanding the world

We shall be discussing people and communities and who is special to them.

Within the nursery there will be an investigation area where the children will explore using their senses.

We shall then finish the half term by discussing the changes in the weather and the different animals we may see in the garden or park.
